In a nod to the resort's altitude we offer the 7452 Mary, a blend of our famous Bloody Mary mix and local High West Distillery vodka served with a touch of black salt on the rim and finished with Wasabi-Celery foam. Also, paying homage to St. Regis tradition, the bar is graced with a commissioned mural - a triptych reflecting Park City's history as a silver mining town by artist Phillip Buller. Light fare is available.*

Deer Valley

A sweet and subtly spicy blend of cocoa, honey, and pepper elevates desserts, cocktails, and creates a Deer Valley worthy cup of hot cocoa.

Great Salt Lake

Capturing the soft and gentle tastes of pink salt along with fennel and dried lavender, bringing subtle floral notes to fish, vegetables, and dressings.

Wasatch Sage

Sage thrives in mountain habitats and its strongly aromatic and slight bitterness paired with juniper and pepper creates a blend for game, poultry, and sauces.

The St. Regis Signature Spices are available for purchase in the candy shop.

Alpine Distilling

The St. Regis Deer Valley has partnered with Park City based Alpine Distilling to showcase the local distillery's award-winning liquors at the mountain resort and has collaborated on a special batch of barrel-aged signature St. Regis gin that will only be available at the property. Using an Old Tom Gin recipe, the small-batch gin was inspired by Utah's natural surroundings. This limited-edition gin is incorporated into seasonal summer cocktails at the St. Regis Bar and J&G Grill. It was crafted solely on the influence of women - designed by Sara Sergent, wife of distiller and founder Rob Sergent, with flavor profile direction from St. Regis' Chef de Cuisine Rachel Wiener, including the use of toasted American Oak barrels.

"Wanting this spirit to be accepted amongst the world's best, we asked their chefs, bartenders, sommeliers and management to review our first batch of Summit Gin to great response. With their expert feedback, we refined and perfected the gin and we feel it lives up to the high standards expected of St. Regis." - Rob Sergent.

Main Street, Park City

Besides the abundance of natural scenery, Park City's Historic District offers a unique charm that provides a beautiful backdrop for memorable photos. Here are some notable photo opportunities that can be found along Main Street.

Banksy street art image that appeared during the 2010 Sundance Film Festival.

Park City History

Even though Brigham Young and the Mormon settlers had passed near the north end of this valley in 1847 on their trek to Salt Lake City and Indian hunters roamed the area as early as 1600 A.D., Park City was not settled until the late 1860's after prospectors discovered silver here in October 1868. With the completion of the Transcontinental Railroad at Promontory, UT in 1869, many laid off railroad workers settled in Park City to seek their fortunes mining the rich silver ore as well as gold, lead, and zinc.

Some key dates in the history of Park City*:

1868 Silver is discovered.

1869 The Transcontinental Railroad is completed at Promontory, Utah. Laid-off workers, including many Chinese, settle in Parley's Park City (later shortened to Park City).

1870 Parley's Park City has a total population of 164.

1872 The discovery of exceedingly rich silver ore (400 ounces to the ton) leads to the opening of the Ontario Mine and starts a boom town atmosphere in Park City. George Hearst, the father of William Randolph Hearst, and partners buy the Ontario for $27,000. It will produce over $50 million in its lifetime.

Park City Museum

1875 A free public school is established.

1880 The first issue of The Park Record newspaper comes off the press. It has been published continuously from this date forth, expanding from one day each week to every Wednesday and Saturday.

1881 Park City is the third city in Utah to receive telephone service. The Catholic Church builds a frame church and names it St. Mary's.

1884 Park City is incorporated.

1889 The town's population is over 5,000. The city is one of the first in the state to have electric lights.

1894 The "Silver Queen", Susanna Bransford Emery, is making $1,000 a day from her interest in the Silver King Mine.

1896 Park City has a population over 7,000.

Trial by Fire

1898 Park City approaches a population of 10,000. In June, 200 of the 350 structures, homes and businesses burn in the worst fire Park City has ever seen. Three-quarters of the town is gone, 500 are homeless, $1 million in property is lost.

1899 The town is rebuilt in one and one-half years! Many new buildings are built of brick and stone to withstand fire. George Wanning's saloon is the first to be rebuilt.

1901 Silver King aerial tramway uses buckets to bring ore down to town, lowering transportation cost to 22-cents a-ton from $1.50 per ton when hauled with horses and wagons.

1904 The Miners Hospital is built for the sum of $5,000 raised by local businessmen and the Western Federation of Miners Local #144. Six thousand miners are treated for "Miner's Con," or silicosis, in the first year.

1917 The prohibition of liquor called "the Great Experiment" begins in Utah, two years before the rest of the nation. Bootleggers abound; stills and home-brewing are popular.

1921 There are 27 bars in Park City and, despite prohibition, a thirsty soul could buy a drink in all but one of them. Prohibition continues through 1932.

1929 The stock market crashes. Silver King stock plummets from $12.87 to $6.50 in one year; Park Consolidated stock falls from $2 to 27 cents.

Skiing Starts with a Jump

1931 Alf Engen sets a world record at Ecker Hill, a ski jump built in 1928, by jumping 247 feet. In all, Engen sets five world records at Ecker Hill.

1936 The town's first Winter Carnival is a success, with more than 500 skiers arriving in (what is now) Deer Valley on the ski train – a four-hour journey from Salt Lake City.

1947 The first lift goes in at Snow Park (now Deer Valley Resort). Mining prices drop lower.

1949 By July 1, all mines have shut down, putting 1,100 miners out of work throughout Wasatch, Summit, and Daggett counties.

1951 Park City is increasingly referred to as a "ghost town" throughout Utah and the American West. There are 1,150 "ghosts" (residents) in town at this time.

1952 Some mines re-open as mineral prices rise, but Park City's population plummets and businesses close.

1955 The red light district is raided. By 1956, the days of the “giddy girls” are over and the last parlor has closed its doors.

Skiing Gives Town a Lift

1958 United Park City Mines looks to diversify and starts a feasibility study to begin the Treasure Mountain Resort (now Park City Mountain Resort).

1963 Park City qualifies for a federal loan from the Area Redevelopment Agency. The government gives $1.25 million for use in starting a ski area. A gondola, a chairlift and 2 J-bars are installed. A lift pass costs $3.50 and there are almost 50,000 skier days that first year.

1965 A mine train takes skiers into a Silver King Mine tunnel, then up a shaft to the top of the mountain, but the trip proves too slow to be very popular. As word of the new ski area spreads, people start moving to Park City. This train car is on display at the Park City Museum today.

1968 Park West Ski Area (now Canyons Village at Park City Mountain Resort) opens.

Art Hits Main Street

1970 First Park City Art Festival debuts on Main Street.

1976 Kimball Art Center, in the old Eley Garage at 638 Main St., opens its doors with two galleries, a gift shop and classrooms.

1980 KPCW, Summit County's public radio, goes on the air.

1981 Deer Valley Resort opens at the site of the old Snow Park area (which closed in 1969).

1981 The United States Film and Video Festival (which has since become the Sundance Film Festival), highlighting independent films, opens in January for the first season in Park City.

1987 TV45, Park City's television station, begins broadcasting.

1990 The estimated population of year-round residents is 4,500. Skier days for all three ski areas are over 850,000.

1993 The Utah Winter Sports Park opens.

1995 Salt Lake City is awarded the 2002 Winter Olympic Games.

1997 Wolf Mountain, formerly Park West, is renamed The Canyons, and opens for its 28th season. Bear Hollow makes history with the Olympic bob and luge track opening at the Winter Sports Park.

2002 Park City hosts more than 40 percent of the events for the XIX Winter Olympic Games. Deer Valley hosts slalom, freestyle moguls, and aerials; Utah Olympic Park holds bobsleigh, luge, skeleton, nordic combined, and ski jumping events; Park City Mountain Resort hosts giant slalom, snowboard GS, and half pipe events.

2013 Park City is voted “Best Town in America” by Outside Magazine.
